THANKSGIVING

“The Lord has done marvels for me”

“He was better to me than all my hopes;

He was better than all my fears;

He made a bridge of my broken works;

And a rainbow of my tears.

He emptied my hands of my treasured store,

And His Covenant love revealed,

Oh, tender and true was the chastening sore,

In wisdom that taught and tried,

Till the soul that He sought was trusting in Him,

And nothing on earth beside.

He guided by the paths that I could not see,

By ways that I have not known.

I read from the past, that my future shall be

Far better than all my fears,

in the Covenant care of my God.”

- A Devotee

REFLECTION:

It seems to us a strange request: “ Lord teach us to pray.” Jews prayed everyday since childhood. Why would they ask him now to teach them to pray? The meaning of it seems to be this: they were asking him for a distinctive prayer as his disciples. John’s disciples had a special kind of prayer, but Jesus’ disciples apparently did not. In answer to their request he taught them the “ Our Father.” This makes it very special: it is not just any prayer; it is a distinctively Christian prayer.

If we look at the prayer closely we find that there is no mention of any of the Christian mysteries! There is no mention of Jesus, nor of his passion, death and resurrection, there is no mention of the Trinity... What sense can we make of this? It is because this was Jesus’ own prayer. In prayer he was seized by a single awareness: the Father, he was not thinking about himself. When we pray the Our Father we are not praying to him, but with him; we are praying his prayer. We are so close to him that we can not see him; like him, we see only the Father. We are, as it were, inside his head, looking out through his eyes; seeing the Father, and seeing the world as he sees it. We are totally identified with him- we are indeed his disciples. We are praying through him. All our prayers end with the phrase, “ through our Lord Jesus Christ...” At the end of the Eucharistic Prayer we say,

“ Through him, with him, in him....”

If Jesus sometimes seems absent it is because he is everywhere. He has drawn the whole world into his heart.
