

REFLECTIONS FOR THIS SUNDAY

“32ND SUNDAY OF THE YEAR”

FIRST READING:--A reading from the Second Book of the Maccabees (7: 1-2,9 -14)

A courageous and faith-filled mother and her seven sons demonstrate their loyalty to God and choose to die rather than violate God's law. They cherished the hope that God will raise them up to new life.

RESPONSE :- I shall be filled, when I awake, with the sight of your glory, O Lord.

SECOND READING: - A reading from the Second Letter of St. Paul to the Thessalonians (2:16- 3:5)

St. Paul prays to God for the Thessalonians that they may persevere loyally in the faith they profess in Christ. He asks them to pray that he will be able to continue to spread the Christian faith to many others.

GOSPEL :- A reading from the Holy Gospel according to St Luke (20: 27-38)

Jesus refutes the Sadducees' denial of the resurrection; he corrects their erroneous idea. Christ gives us the essential facts concerning our future status. We shall all rise to a new and eternal life, in a form and an existence very different from that of our present life.

Holy Fathers' Intentions for November

General Intention: That priests experiencing difficulties may be comforted in their sufferings,sustained in the doubts and confirmed in their fidelity.

Missionary Intention: That the Churches of Latin America may send missionaries to other Churches as a result of the continental mission.

“Do not look forward to what may happen tomorrow; the same everlasting Father who cares for you today will take care of you tomorrow and every day. Either He will shield you from suffering,or He will give you unfailing strength to bear it.Be at peace,then. Put aside all anxious thoughts and imaginations, and say continually: "The Lord is my strength and my shield. My heart has trusted in Him and I am helped. He is not only with me but in me,and I in Him."

REFLECTION:

There are people who say that everything in the universe can be explained by chance. If this is so, then it can be said that there is no God. And if there is no God, then there is no life hereafter. There are others who say that if there is no God and no life hereafter, then life has no meaning. Neither will the good be rewarded and bad punished. Therefore, there is a God and there is life hereafter.

In the gospel reading, we saw some Sadducees who did not believe in the resurrection of the dead, approach Jesus with a case that ridiculed the resurrection of the dead. Arguing for the resurrection of the dead and life everlasting from the Book of Exodus which the Sadducees accepted, Jesus said that even Moses called 'Lord, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob; He is not God of the dead, but of the living, for to Him all are alive.'

In life as in death, Jesus affirmed the resurrection from the dead. The Beattitudes promise a better life in God's Kingdom. In fact the Father made Jesus Himself the very argument for the resurrection of the dead by refusing to allow death have the last word over His Son.

The resurrection from the dead and life everlasting are also affirmed by the mother and her seven sons in the first reading. From this belief, comes a mission. If we want to have a glorious resurrection from the dead then we have to live according to the teachings and commands of Jesus, specially the commandment of love, namely, to be at the service of God and our fellow men, primarily those in need.

Obviously, these are not easy to do. But do them we must if we want to be assured of our own resurrection. In this difficult life-project, let us find strength in the words of St. Paul: "May our Lord Jesus and God our Father,... encourage your hearts and strengthen you in every good deed and deed"
